The 2019 survey resulted in an 85% response rate (221 responses out of 259 survey invitations). The following is a list of definitions pertaining to the charts listed below.

The Level of Excellence is derived from graduates who reported being Full-Time Employed as well as those who are attending Graduate School, while Level of Success further includes graduates who are part-time employed, military service, post-graduate internship or fellowship, or not seeking employment. Respondents were only given one choice in response and therefore the resulting charts indicate the “type” of post-graduate activity they deem most relevant to them. Because a number of graduates major in more than one discipline, results are a duplicated count, including graduate results from each identified major. The Number of Responses is the total number of graduates who responded to the survey identified as representing a particular department. Full-Time refers to the number of graduates in that department who obtained a full-time position (30+ hours per week) after graduation; those who selected Part-Time obtained a position of less than thirty (30) hours per week. Graduate School refers to the graduates who applied and were accepted into, or were planning to attend, graduate school. Other is a culmination of additional categories, including: Post-Graduate Internship or Fellowship, Mission, Gap Year or other service experience, not seeking, and Military Service. Finally, those who referred to themselves as Still-Seeking Employment were the graduates who responded to the survey, but have yet to realize an identifiable first destination within six months of graduation. Data was collected via a self-report survey, research from LinkedIn and Facebook media platforms.
